
The Stone Geary parameter b is recalibrated to a 5.13 per cent participation rate in every case, so the four lines differ only in which channel operates, not in the level of use. The resource channel does not flip the gradient.